

EBP Course: Session #16 EATA Update

Dear EATA Conference Attendee:

Thank you for your continued patience while our friends at Gatorade prepare the recording and online production of the EBP Lecture #16 Exercise Inflammation: From Ibuprofen to Cherries by Dr. Roberta Anding which was unfortunately cancelled at our EATA Symposium in January. Due to several unavoidable delays, our friends at Gatorade are planning to have production of this course completed in spring/early summer and released shortly after to our membership for completion.

The due date of February 15 for EBP credit from the 2018 EATA Symposium does NOT apply to this course. Once the course is ready for distribution we will send an email to EATA Members who attended the 70th Annual Meeting in Boston. We will include instructions on how to complete the course and earn the EBP credit. This should help alleviate any concerns but if you have remaining questions about this course please direct them to John Hauth, EATA President-Elect at president-elect@eata.org.

Again, thank you for your patience as we work through this with our friends at Gatorade!

Sincerely,

John M. Hauth, EdD, LAT, ATC
President-Elect
Eastern Athletic Trainers' Association